GENERAL

- * Operation Break Through is a new project implemented to handle enquiries, applications, etc., in such a manner that students will be encouraged to register at York. York Enquiry Service is the means by which students will receive complete and prompt answers to their questions. All calls received at York Enquiry Service (Y.E.S.) will be processed and an answer given to the student within a 24-hour period. The assistance of the York community is requested in order to ensure the success of the project by referring all enquiries concerning residence, admission, courses, requests for applications and calendars, status of applications, appointments for faculty advising and general information about York University to York Enquiry Service at 635-3563 or 635-2211. Students who come in person should be directed to the York Enquiry Service Information Desk (formerly book checkout counter) in Steacie Science Library.
- * Waste Paper Collection Project
In response to community enthusiasm, the collection of waste paper for recycling, has been introduced by the University. The project, developed last year by York's Pollution Probe, was sparked again this year by students Mark Plewman and Bob Vorpes who requested that the program be undertaken as university routine carried out by the Department of Physical Plant in collaboration with Pollution Probe.
Initially, only three buildings will participate in this pilot project - the Ross Building, the Temporary Office Building and the Physical Plant Workshops.
Two cardboard containers have been provided for each office or area where a suitable amount of waste paper can be expected. Metal staples and clips do not present a problem, but preferably should be kept out of the containers. On Tuesday and Thursday of each week, the cleaning staff will empty the waste paper containers instead of the regular waste baskets. While additional medium-sized containers, clearly marked "waste paper", may be used for excess quantities, any department with a large volume of paper should call local 2373 to arrange for a special pick-up.
Eventually it is hoped that the paper recycling program may be extended to include the entire campus. The success of this project, the purpose of which is to assist in the reduction of pollution and the number of living trees used to produce paper, depends on the wholehearted co-operation of the university community.
- * Alastair Gillespie, Minister of State for Science and Technology, will be the keynote speaker for the Second Technical Education Conference, co-sponsored by York's Centre for Continuing Education and the Technical Section of the Ontario Education Association. The conference is being held May 5-6 and will be concerned with industrial arts and technical education from kindergarten to university.
