GENERAL

* The Quaternary Climatic Change Symposium will be held at York from May 18-20. Sponsored by Atkinson College, the Symposium features papers from invited speakers on glacial/interglacial climates and pedologic, geologic, palynologic, and archaeological methods of reconstructing paleoclimate. The registration fee is $30.00 (professional) and $20.00 (students). For registration and further information contact Professor W.C. Mahaney, Geography (Atkinson), at local -2513 or -3923.

* More than two hundred leaders and delegates are expected to attend the fifth annual Mathematics Conference, sponsored by York's Centre for Continuing Education, which will be held May 31-June 1. The conference will provide up-dating study and analysis of mathematics from early childhood to university levels. Conference highlights include five in-depth seminars, eight major speakers, twenty-nine group sessions, films and a publishers' exhibit of the latest learning materials. For further information on the Mathematics '79 Conference and to register, call the Centre at local -2502.

* A recent Bulletin (dated April 12-16) reported that a wheel chair was stolen from the Behavioural Science Building on April 4. The owner of the chair is urgently in need of a replacement; as the chair was not covered by insurance, donations from the York community would be appreciated. At approximately $377, just a small amount is required from any one person. Surplus contributions will be placed in a special fund to be run by the Centre for Handicapped Students to help with any similar problems in the future. Contributions may be made either to Judy Snow (Room 135, Behavioural Science Building) or Hugh McCarthy (Room 020, Farquharson Building) by campus mail or in person.

* The Faculty of Science's "Stargazing" evenings will commence Wednesday, May 16 and will continue each Wednesday evening until September 26. A special program will be given on overcast evenings. Stargazing takes place one-half hour after dusk and is free and open to the general public.
