USE OF ASBESTOS IN YORK UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS

Dealing responsibly with a complex issue of recent public attention has become a formidable and delicate institutional task. It is so because of many unknowns, the divergent opinion of experts and the lack of precise government legislation concerning a standard of safety with regard to asbestos fibres per cubic centimetre of air. Hence, it is not possible to state categorically that no hazards exist at York nor is it possible to indicate any degree of potential danger. Nevertheless, we believe the community merits an interim report on the situation at this time.

A prerequisite to any sound assessment of the potential problem is the availability of facts. Using its own professional staff, the Department of Physical Plant has carried out a survey of all buildings on the York and Glendon Campuses, guided by a report from MCU entitled "Inspecting Buildings for Asbestos". The findings indicate: (1) No asbestos fire dampers have been used in any air ducts; (2) Only two buildings--Osgoode Hall Law School at York and the Central Services Building at Glendon--where structural steel, covered with limpet asbestos, was used throughout; (3) Asbestos coating has not been used widely and, in many instances where used, the surface was covered with a sealant; (4) In the Scott Library, where the Rare Book Room ceilings and the escalator stairwells have an asbestos coating, air sampling tests, conducted by the Ontario Research Foundation during a workday with normal activity, detected only some small asbestos fibres in concentrations similar to those normally encountered in the outside atmosphere; (5) Structural components of the mechanical penthouse on Osgoode Hall Law School have been re-encapsulated with a sealant recommended by MCU for such purposes. (6) Asbestos has been removed from the air return plenum, installed for acoustic purposes, in the Steacie Science Library.

The above factors are reassuring. Nevertheless, on a matter of such import, the Department of Physical Plant considered it desirable to ascertain additional facts concerning building materials containing asbestos and air samples in various locations. Peto-McCallum & Associates, a highly regarded building materials consulting firm, has been appointed to make a thorough study and report as soon as feasible.

It is encouraging also to know of the Provincial Government's determination to deal effectively with the problem. A Royal Commission has been appointed, composed of Drs. Stefan Dupré, Fraser Mustard and Robert Uffin, three highly respected members of the Ontario academic community with scientific and technical backgrounds, to study the hazards of asbestos and recommend safety standards. In due course, their contribution will be of great value to all seeking enlightenment on a complex subject.

In the meantime, the University's senior administration wishes to assure members of the community of its commitment to a responsible, professional approach to identifying any potential problems arising from the use of asbestos in any building and to pursuing diligently any course of action required to ensure a safe environment.

UNIVERSITY POLICY CONCERNING MISUSE OF FIRE SAFETY EQUIPMENT

The misuse of fire safety equipment is considered to be a dangerous and serious offence at York University. Numerous incidents involving false fire alarms and improperly used fire safety equipment in recent years have increased the concern of both the University and the Fire Department. There is evidently a need to supply clearer direction as to the action to be taken in such cases. The goal of the following policy is the elimination of these illegal and dangerous acts.

POLICY AND PROCEDURE

The ringing of a false fire alarm is an offence under S.393 of the Criminal Code, and tampering with fire fighting equipment is an offence under S.387 (Mischief) of the Criminal Code. All members of the University and visitors to the University are subject to arrest and prosecution for giving a false fire alarm or for tampering with fire safety equipment. At the same time, University members are also subject to internal University discipline:

The following procedure will apply:

1. The Department of Safety and Security will inform the designated executive officer (Masters of York Colleges, Ass't Vice-President (Student Relations) for York Campus non-College locations, Dean of Students, Glendon College) of all false fire alarms and any evidence of tampering with fire safety equipment, and of the circumstances surrounding the incident.
2. The designated executive officer is responsible for initiating an investigation immediately in an attempt to determine the individual(s) responsible. In this investigation the University Safety Officer will co-ordinate the investigation and be responsible for direct liaison with the Fire Department.
3. Except where forbidden by a Collective Agreement, any member of the University found guilty by the appropriate executive officer of misuse of fire safety equipment shall be fined a minimum of $100 and charged with the damages or any other related expenses incurred by the University. Where a Collective Agreement forbids the imposition of such a fine, the individual shall be assessed the relevant damage and related expense costs, and the police department shall be invited to lay criminal charges against the individual.
4. In University College residences the fine will be charged to the House if the individual responsible cannot be apprehended.
5. If the guilty party is a member of a University residence, the responsible executive officer of that residence may evict the student.
6. A written report will be forwarded to the Director of Safety and Security Services informing him of the action taken and he will inform the proper public agencies.
7. These sanctions in no way shield the guilty party(s) from either civil suits which may be brought by individuals, insurance companies or others OR criminal proceedings which may be pursued by the local authorities.
8. Any student of the University who refuses to abide by this policy or conform to its provisions and sanctions will be liable to rustication from the University.
