EMERGENCY SERVICES CENTRE -3333

GENERAL

- * CASINO YORK: Members of the University community who have yearned for the excitement of the jet set will get a chance to taste life in the fast lane without flying to Las Vegas or Monaco as the Department of Development, in conjunction with the York Fund Campaign, presents "CASINO YORK". From 11:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m., the Winters and McLaughlin College Dining Halls will take on the guise of a gambler's paradise as students, staff and faculty place their bets for prizes that will include a trip for two to anywhere that Air Canada flies. Croupiers, cashiers, runners and announcers are all needed to make this event a success. Volunteers will not only have fun, but will also receive professional instruction in the operation of casino tables. Persons wishing to volunteer time and talents are asked to call or write to the Casino York Volunteer Chairmen: Penny Jolliffe, Communications Department, local -3441; Mrs. Yvonne Aziz, Office of the President, S949, Ross Building, local -2231.
- * Stong College is presenting Legends from Memory dances based on personal and collective memories, the latter inspired by Tales of Heritage by Hedi A. Bouraoui and Saul Field. The dances are produced by Creative Components; choreography by Loretta Czernis; music by Bill Gilliam and Ron Allen. Performances will be held in the Samuel Beckett Theatre, Stong College, October 15 and 16 at 8:00 p.m. Admission is $6.00; $5.00 for students and special group rates of $3.50 for 10 or more. For information and reservations, call Olga Cirak at local -3061.
- * Statistical Analysis System (SAS) is a very flexible general purpose data analysis, file management and programming language used widely throughout North America. To provide a basic orientation for potential users of SAS, the Institute for Behavioural Research is offering a short introductory course on its use. The course will consist of three sessions -- October 15, 22, 29 -- with a limit of 50 persons in attendance. For further information and to register, call IBR at local -3062 or drop by Room 242 of the Administrative Studies Building.
- * A search has been initiated by the IBR Policy Advisor Board to seek a new Director for the Institute of Behavioural Research. Applications and nominations are now invited for a minimum three-year term beginning January 1, 1983. Chairman of the IBR Policy Advisor Board is Environmental Studies professor Peter Homenuck. Other Policy Board members are professors Bob Drummond (Political Science), Mike Friendly (Psychology) and Jim Savary (Economics, Glendon). Correspondence should be directed to Professor Homenuck, Room 568, Scott Library, or to any other member of the Advisory Board, no later than October 20, 1982.
- * Catherine Coquery-Vidrovitch, University of Paris, VII, will lecture on "French Economic Exploitation of Africa" on Tuesday, October 12 at 11:00 a.m. in Vanier College Senior Common Room as a guest of the Department of History. Professor Coquery-Vidrovitch is author of several books on Africa in the colonial period; she and York professor P. Lovejoy are editing a book on the Social Organization of Long-Distance Trade in Africa for Sage Publications of California.
- * The Centre for Handicapped Students requires people who are willing to tutor learning disabled and hearing impaired students at York University. Training for tutoring, assisting with essay organization and with note taking will be provided. Persons interested in helping are asked to register with the Centre, Room 135 of the Behavioural Science Building; telephone local -3312.
- * CIRA Fitness Challenge: It's a challenge to all students, staff and faculty at York to show the community's concern about personal fitness. Recreation York heard about this nationwide fitness challenge for post secondary institutions and decided that York campus should get involved. To register, or to obtain further information, drop by the Tait McKenzie Centre for a participant's kit.
- * The York Women's Centre is sponsoring a Wendo Self Defence course for women which will commence next week. To sign up, drop by Room 102 of the Behavioural Science Building or call local -3484 and ask for Halina.
- * The Canadian Children's Theatre opens its 7th season with a series of ten Drama Groups -- a learning by doing experience for brighter than average 8 to 14 year olds. The program is challenging to the mind as well as providing for emotional and social growth. The group meets from 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. on Saturdays (commencing October 16), at Glendon College and the fee is $75.00. For further information and an interview, call 488-1599. There will be a free mini-session on Saturday, October 2 at 10:00 a.m.

GENERAL

CASINO YORK: York faculty and staff are invited to take a chance at CASINO YORK on October 28. A ticket to the York Fund's biggest event of the year could mean a free trip with a special Air Canada door prize of two return tickets to any of the airline's destinations. American Express has raised the stakes by donating U.S. $500 spending money in traveller's cheques. To be eligible for the Air Canada/American Express door prize, tickets must be placed in the drum on the day of the event.

Two-Hour Lunch: Thanks to Vice-President Farr, University staff will have two hours for lunch on October 28 to participate in CASINO YORK where, from 11:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. McLaughlin and Winters College Halls will be the centre of action with more than 45 casino tables and televised horse races.

TICKETS: The low $2.00 advance admission price includes a free hot dog, five gambling chips, and a chance at the door prize. Tickets sold at the door are $1.00 each and do not include chips. Winning chips can be traded in on items ranging from toasters to teddy bears or can be exchanged for raffle tickets on a wide variety of prize items. Each $1.00 donation buys four additional chips and a better chance at the prizes. Advance tickets are available at locations throughout the University from the following Key Area Representatives:

CASINO YORK: York faculty and staff are invited to take a chance at CASINO YORK on October 28. A ticket to the York Fund's biggest event of the year could mean a free trip with a special Air Canada door prize of two return tickets to any of the airline's destinations. American Express has raised the stakes by donating U.S. $500 spending money in traveller's cheques. To be eligible for the Air Canada/American Express door prize, tickets must be placed in the drum on the day of the event.

Two-Hour Lunch: Thanks to Vice-President Farr, University staff will have two hours for lunch on October 28 to participate in CASINO YORK where, from 11:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. McLaughlin and Winters College Halls will be the centre of action with more than 45 casino tables and televised horse races.

TICKETS: The low $2.00 advance admission price includes a free hot dog, five gambling chips, and a chance at the door prize. Tickets sold at the door are $1.00 each and do not include chips. Winning chips can be traded in on items ranging from toasters to teddy bears or can be exchanged for raffle tickets on a wide variety of prize items. Each $1.00 donation buys four additional chips and a better chance at the prizes.

Advance tickets are available throughout the University from Key Area Representatives (list in Thursday, October 21 Bulletin).

VOLUNTEERS: Over 100 staff, faculty and students have already volunteered their services for shifts of one hour or more as croupiers, announcers, cashiers, etc. Anyone who would like to get involved should call the Volunteer Co-Chairman: Yvonne Aziz at 667-2231 or Penny Jolliffe at 667-3441.

NOTE: Those who have already volunteered are asked to turn up at the Volunteers Room (Winters Masters Dining Room...entrance from the back of the main Winters Dining Hall...as soon after 10:30 a.m. as they can (or just before their shift begins) to get their outfit and training.
