Thursday, March 2 (12:00 noon) - Monday, March 6 (12:00 noon), 1989
Volume 9, Number 17

GENERAL:

Attention Members of the York Community: Construction to extend Moon Road will begin this Monday, March 6. The new extension will run from the north end of existing Moon Road, eastward to Fraser Drive (along the south side of the site for Fine Arts III). The first phase of this project will involve the installation of storm and sanitary sewer lines and is expected to last approximately 3-4 weeks. Initially, a portion of Fraser Drive will be interrupted, and a detour route with appropriate signage will be in place. The second phase of the project will involve building and paving the road, and will run approximately from the end of April until the end of May. Members of the York Community are reminded of the potential dangers of construction zones. Please observe all signs, walk around fenced-off areas, and use only those access routes clearly designated for pedestrian/vehicular traffic. Any questions/concerns regarding construction activity on campus, can be directed to the Construction Hotline (736-5445).

OBITUARY: Dr. Bryce Taylor, the founding Chairman of the Department of Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics, died on February 16, 1989. Bryce was well known across Canada for his leadership in national sport organizations; for his policy and planning work with the Provincial and Federal Governments; and for his work on behalf of the Toronto Olympic bid. Dr. Taylor was also a recognized authority on North American Indian dances. The "York University-Bryce M. Taylor Memorial Fund" has been established. Members of the York community can send donations to "The Bryce M. Taylor Memorial Fund," c/o External Relations, Suite A, WOB.

York students, faculty, staff and visitors are about to receive 16,000 questionnaires in the first annual Customer Survey initiated by the Finance and Administration (F&A) Division under its Service Excellence Program. The departments that come under the F&A umbrella include Physical Plant, Facilities Planning and Management, Security and Parking, Occupational Health and Safety, Human Resources, Business Operations, and Finance. The Institute for Social Research (ISR), with the assistance of F&A staff has designed questionnaires to cover the services of 34 different work units within the Division. Some people will receive more than one questionnaire. Through the Service Excellence Program, which was initiated within the Division during the Spring of '88, F&A employees have committed themselves to work together and support each other in the delivery of quality services to F&A customers. The data gathered through the Customer Survey is essential to providing improved service to the York Community. Please fill out the questionnaires promptly and return to ISR.

Applications for the position of Residence Tutor at Stong College are being received by Allen C. Koretsky, Master. Applicants shall be associated with York as a full-time graduate student, staff or faculty member. Applicants should have residential experience at a senior level.
